IF I SHOULD DIE TO-NIGHT. Before they laid it in its resting place,
And deem that death had left it almost fair;
And, laying snow white downers against my hair,
Would smooth it down with tearful tenderness,
And fold my hands with lingering caress,
Ibor hands, so empty and so cold lo-night!

If I should die lo-night,

My friends would call to mind, with loving thought,

Some kindly deed the key hand had wrought;

Some gentle word the frozen lips had said;

Errands on which the willing feet had sped;

The memory of my selfishness and pride,

My hasly words would all be put aside,

And so I should be loved and mourned to-night.

Memory. There are two classes of persons who aro professionally ealled upon for great temporary exercises of memory, viz., dramatic performers and barristers. An actor, when about to perform a new "part," not only commits it to memory, but "studies" it, so as to make it part of himself; and all really great actors identify themselves for the time with the characters they are performing. When a "part" has once been thoroughly mastered, the performer is usually able to go through with it, even after a long interval, with very little sometimes called upon to take a new While blust ring what destroy the wonton be part" at very short notice; he then left? I know yery well that the mind's integrity is far enough gone already and that al cour doubts and perpetual self-defeats come upon us for just that reason. All the more necessary is it that we come into what integrity we can, and stay there. Let the soul be immovable as rock, by any threat of danger, any feeling of risk, any more seruple, any call to believe by sheer self-compelling will. The soul that in anchored in right will do no such thing. There must, of course, be no obstinacy. no stiff holding out after conviction has come. There must be tenderness, docility, and, with these, a most firmly kept equilibrium. Never be in a hurry to believe; never try to conquer doubts against time. Time is one of the grand elements in thought as truly as in motion. If you cannot open a doubt today, keep it till to-morrow; do not be afraid to keep it for whole years. Manufacturer and Vendor of the CELEBRATEII

AGUE AND FEVER

The proprietor of this celebrated me licine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedics ever offered to the public for the safe, certain, speedy, and permanent cure of Ague and Fever, or Phills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and South western country to bear him lestimony to the truth the assertion, that in an case whatever will it fail to cure, it the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order; should the patient, however, require a cathantic medicine after having taken three or four dozen o

the Tonle, a single dose of RULL S VEG-ETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient

LOUISVILLE, KY., Oct. 8, 1869. Dr. John Bull - Dear Ser: Many thanks to you for the medicine you have so kindly given me. I have been a great sufferer for years, and had the advise of various physicians. Some pronounced my spine, some my lunge, and some my heart to be the seat of my disease. I have been burnt. about having one inserted, when you kindly sent me your Sarsuparilla which I immediately begun to take three threes a day. I had suffered terribly with a most for any length of time, and on rising to my feet I would be perfectly blind for several minutes, and would have to hold JOHN C. STEELE, 10 something to prevent falling. I am most happy to inform you that the pain in my head is entirely relieved. I suffer but seldom with my spine and then not so acutely. My appetite is good; in deed for the first time in my life I enjoy my dinner more than any meal during You kindly sent me four bottles again last night, and I began again this morning, and I hope to be entirely relieved
